PABLO'S FAMILY RECEIVE STUDENTS FROM ABROAD

My family is very open. We sometimes invite foreign students to spend one or two months with us in the summer. At first, my mother used to complain about this because she can't understand these students and their behavior is strange to her. However, my father explained to her that they are not strange, just different. My brothers and sisters also enjoy receiving students from abroad. I understand my mother because at first she had to do extra housework all alone, but now the family understands and we all help her.

Hosting foreign students offers my brothers, sisters and me great opportunities because we have contact with different cultures and can practice English or French. Now we can speak English and French more fluently, and we are able to have conversations with native speakers.

At first we only received visitors, but now one month some students come to live with us and another month we go to another country. We become strangers in a country with a different culture, which has made my mother understand that a foreign family has to accept us in their homes.

My parents think that our childhood and adolescence is richer and more open than theirs was. They say that they are too old to change, but we believe that they are changing, too.

My mother is no longer the same person. My town's local authorities are organizing English courses for adults. Last week she decided to join one of them and she is encouraging my father to do the same. Obviously, she is not a child and she has some problems understanding the difference between the spelling and pronunciation in English. Nevertheless, the teacher told me that she is one of the brightest students in her class. Now, she does not spend all day at home as she has to attend lessons, and she has met a lot of new people of her age and even younger. Before, she was always complaining about backaches, but now she never mentions it. We are very happy at home.
